Blank Posts have no holes in them for the fence panel rail. Larger blank posts are primarily used for a sturdier installation of fencing or large gate installations. Smaller blank posts are commonly installed using wall mounts, allowing for "stepping" fence panels up or down hills. Post routing is also an option to match our fence panels. If routed holes are required, please note the style and height of the fence panel in the "Customer Notes". We can also match other manufacturer's fence panels by requesting Custom Routing
